

Competition Commitment Form

Being on a competition team is a big commitment. This information will tell you everything you need to know before you decide to try out for a Sara Kate's Dance Studio dance team.

- Being on a dance team takes a lot of time and effort:
 - If you make the team, you will be required to practice for a minimum of four hours per week. This includes Lyrical or Contemporary, jazz, tap and a technique class.
 - If you make the team and then part way through the season you are not trying anymore, you will not be able to compete.
 - This commitment begins on the day you are accepted onto a team until the last day of spring recital for the current dance year unless there's an injury or serious illness that prevents participation which will require a doctor's note.
- You must be at practice:
 - Practice times for each team are listed on SaraKatesDanceStudio.com please take a look and make sure these times are going to work for you before you try out.
 - If you miss more than 3 practices without making them up, then you will not be allowed to compete even if your competition fees are already paid.
 - Make up times will be available for you/your child upon request.
 - Summer classes are mandatory but do not have to be made up if missed due to vacations, etc.
- Financial commitment:
 - Competition fees will vary depending on which competitions and how many competitions we attend a season. Usually competition fees are $35-$45 per dance, per student. Solos, duets & trios will have a higher fee.
 - Hotel accommodations as well as other travel expenses are separate from competition fees.
 - Dance costumes, shoes, tights and other miscellaneous things will be required to order throughout the year to help spread out costs. You'll be notified as soon as order dates are set.
 - We will be doing fundraising to help cut these expenses.
